

GREGORY FACES SERIOUS CHARGE

Secret Service Men Find Molds
for Making Counterfeit
Money in Home.

IS HELD TO GRAND JURY
WITNESS FOR DEFENSE PROVIDES A BOOMERANG.

Eben J. Gregory, who was arrested a few days ago, charged with being a counterfeit money maker, was yesterday afternoon, charged with having in his possession apparatus used for making counterfeit coins. In another search of the Gregory home Friday afternoon, H. B. Richardson and W. W. Fraser, the government secret service agents who have been at work on the case, discovered molds for use in counterfeiting. These were hidden in the attic of the house, above the kitchen, close to the roof. With them were several counterfeit coins, indicating that some one had been experimenting, but had failed to make any good enough to be passed.

The molds discovered by the secret service men were of half dollars and dollars. One plaster paris mold was for a half dollar and the other for a dollar. In addition there was half of a metal mold of a dollar, the mold being for the reverse or eagle side.

Gregory was taken before United States Commissioner Charles Baldwin yesterday afternoon and given a preliminary hearing. The secret service agents testified for the government. They told of the discovery of the apparatus, and said that Gregory had admitted to them yesterday morning that he had the molds for the purpose of counterfeiting.

W. S. Bing, a rubber stamp manufacturer, was called by the defense to show that counterfeit money could not be made from the molds secured by the federal officers. Bing, however, proved a boomerang to the defense, as he testified that in his opinion the molds could be used for counterfeiting purposes. Gregory was held to the grand jury in $2,500 bail, making $5,000 in all, which he has been unable to furnish. He was represented at the hearing by the well-known attorneys, Bailey & Vickery. District Attorney H. E. Booth represented the government.

BOY'S CONDITION SERIOUS

Jacob Steurman, Who Was Struck
by Auto, Removed to L. D.
S. Hospital.

Jacob Steurman, the 12-year-old boy who was knocked down by an automobile Friday evening at Second South and Ninth East streets, was taken to the Latter-day Saints' hospital yesterday morning, his condition having steadily grown worse after the accident.

Just before being knocked down, the little boy was riding on the back of a wagon. Dropping to the street, he ran in front of automobile No. 353, owned by Ben Hartwick of 1122 Buena street. He was first taken to the house of Dr. E. V. Silver, and later removed to the home of his father, J. Steurman, of 169 South Ninth East street.

M. A. White, the aged newspaper seller, who was injured by an automobile on Wednesday night at First South and Main streets, was taken to Holy Cross hospital yesterday morning. He had been receiving treatment at the emergency hospital at police headquarters, but his condition became so serious that Dr. W. R. Calderwood, county physician, ordered him taken to the hospital.

Dr. C. F. Wilcox, who is attending young Steurman, stated last night that the boy's condition was very serious, and that while he has a fighting chance for life, his condition is very serious.

SLIM PICKING FOR CROOKS

Twenty-five Men in Plain Clothes
Protect Conference Crowds
From Grafters.

Grafters who came to Salt Lake to "work" the crowds gathered here to attend the Mormon conference were cautious yesterday and no arrests were made, although there were reports of several stolen pocketbooks and handbags during the day.

Twenty-five policemen in plain clothes mingled with the crowds in the streets and followed all suspects that came under their notice.

There was a report that a gang of fakers was selling "phony" jewelry in Main street, but none of the swindlers was arrested. The method of these rascals was to exhibit a brass ring set with a colored stone and pretending that it had been a birthday gift in better days, tell a heart-rending tale of hard luck and offer it for "one-twentieth of its real value."

Chief of Police Pitt stated yesterday afternoon that none of the reports of stolen pocketbooks had reached him. The day has passed quietly, he said. "The visitors have been protected by twenty-five men detailed for that purpose, and not one loss due to the activity of crooks has reached me."

Mrs. M. E. Anderson of Ogden, on leaving a depot car at First South and Main streets yesterday morning, found that her hand bag, which she had placed upon the seat beside her, was missing. Fortunately, her purse was not in the hand bag, as she had slipped it into the pocket of her jacket after paying her fare. The hand bag contained articles of small value.

James Peterson of Park City had his pocket picked of $10 at Second South and Main streets during the afternoon. He had changed a $20 gold piece in a store in the vicinity and had placed a $10 bill, which he had received in change, in his vest pocket. Twenty minutes later he felt in his pocket and the bill was gone.

SAYS HE WAS BUNCOED.

George A. Taylor Offers Defense in Suit on Note.

Setting forth that he was "buncoed" by the A. A. Berry Seed company through his ignorance of the law, George A. Taylor of Summit county yesterday filed an answer to the suit on a note for $1,196.96 brought against him by that company. The suit has been transferred to the Salt Lake county court from Tooele county, where it was originally brought.

Taylor says that the note is barred by bankruptcy proceedings. While they were pending he was in Chicago, and Berry called upon him there, saying that the proceedings had been dismissed and that he would have to pay his debts to the seed company. Taylor was then induced to sign the note, and he afterwards discovered that the statements made to him at the time by Berry were not true.

M'CORNICK MAKES PERSONAL OFFER OF $5,000 FOR BANK ROBBERY CLUE

W. S. McCornick, president of the Utah National bank, has issued a signed statement, offering a reward of $5,000 for any information concerning the robbery of $106,250 from that bank which many persons of value are assisting in the recovery of the thief. The reward is offered by Mr. McCornick personally, and is independent of the $100,000 reward authorized by the directors of the bank for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the guilty person. That there may be no delay in the effort to apprehend the guilty person, Mr. McCornick has limited the offer to June 1, 1908. His statement follows:

"I personally offer as a reward a sum not exceeding five thousand ($5,000) dollars for any information (communicated in writing) leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons who took or misappropriated $106,250 of the funds of the Utah National bank, or which will materially or substantially tend to the recovery of the money or any part thereof, it being understood that for all the information so communicated I do not hereby make myself liable in the aggregate for an amount exceeding said sum, nor is this offer made to any member of any detective agency in the employ of said bank. This offer holds good until and including June 1, 1908.

"Should any question arise hereunder relating to the materiality or value of information communicated or in respect to any other matter, or any differences between conflicting claimants for the whole or any part of the reward, all such questions or differences shall be determined by arbitration in the usual manner, one arbitrator to be selected by the claimant or claimants and one by myself. Should these two be unable to agree, they shall select a third, and the decision of a majority of them shall be final as to all questions arising hereunder.

"W. S. McCornick."

Dated April 4, 1908.

CASTLE REFUSED PARDON

Young Foreigner Who Spent His Money Too Freely Must Serve Out
His Term in County Jail.

The state board of pardons yesterday refused to commute the sentence of James K. Castle, serving a eleven months' term in the county jail for obtaining money under false pretenses. Castle is also known as Morris Daniel Czech, and he is a Russian by birth. He is a young man of good appearance and at the jail is known as "The Wandering Jew." Little is known of his past, but he came to Salt Lake about a year ago and started to spend money freely. He told the board of pardons that the reason of his undoing was that he had no funds. The board had encouraged him to spend his money and that when it was all gone he resorted to the practice of writing checks on banks where he had no funds. The board did not consider his excuse good enough and sent him back to jail to serve out his term.

CLARA SMITH APPEARS.

Colored Woman Wanted for Robbery

Clara Smith, the colored woman wanted on a robbery charge, who failed to appear when her case was called Thursday before Judge Armstrong, put in an appearance yesterday, and was given until April 6 to enter a plea. She is out on $250 bonds, which the district attorney feared were "raw" bonds and could not be enforced against the signers. The appearance of Clara, however, settled this question, after she had explained that she was not aware that she was wanted last Thursday, and Judge Armstrong set aside his previous order for forfeiting the bonds.

TRANSFORMER BURNS OUT

Accident in West Temple Power Station Curtails Street Railway Service.

Many visitors to Zion were compelled to walk yesterday owing to an accident at the West Temple street station of the Utah Light & Railway company. The company had made extensive preparations for the accommodation of the large crowd that gathered here to attend the L. D. S. conference and twenty-five extra cars were put in service. This proved too heavy a strain upon the street transformers and it burned out about 10 o'clock yesterday morning.

The immediate consequence of the accident was the return of the twenty-five extra cars to the barns.

During the day the company could do with the power remaining at its disposal was to run the regular cars. Three extra cars were put into service when traffic was heavier, but no effort was made to increase the number through fear of a second accident.

Every available man was hurried to the West Temple station to assist in putting the disabled transformer into working condition again. It is expected that by 1 o'clock tomorrow the company will have sufficient power to put on sixteen extra cars. Later in the day the full twenty-five extras, it is hoped, will be running.

Yesterday's accident must have cost the company considerable money in fares, in repairs to the damaged transformer, and in the loss of time. During the day there were times when all of the cars were jammed and persons having only a few minutes to spare walked rather than force themselves into the cars and take their chances of squeezing out when their destination was reached. Had the company been able to run its twenty-five extras throughout the day its receipts would have been materially swelled.
